Dear Friends,

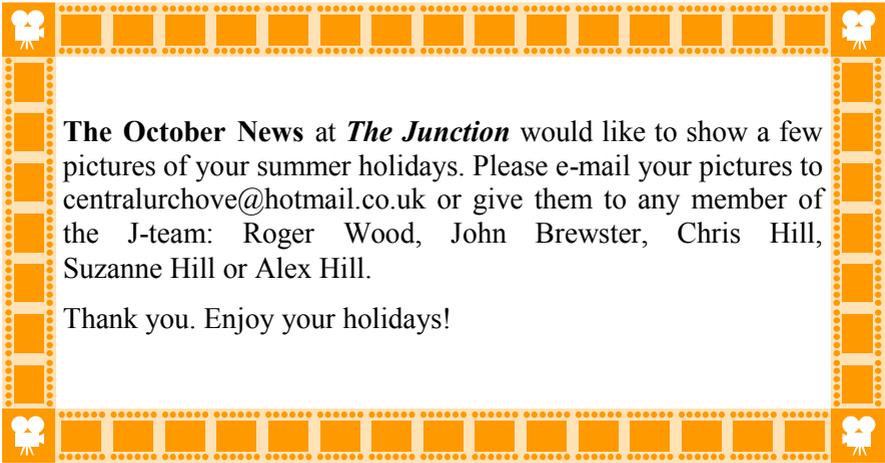

It's that time of the year when we think about taking a break - and if we're able to, even a holiday. We need a break from the normal routine, whether we're working or retired. In August, the weather is normally good - plenty of warm sunshine but not too hot or humid. Down here on the coast, we don't necessarily need to go away - the sea, the sun, the beaches, the downs and the countryside are already here! The sea is usually at its warmest at this time of year and we can go to the beach and have a paddle. (My days of swimming the channel are over - perhaps yours too!)

Through the summer weeks in the church, we break from our usual routine and most of our normal activities. Of course we continue to worship each Sunday, and perhaps we can take the opportunity to attend another church if we are away. It's good to share with other Christians, wherever we may be, and to welcome visitors who come to our church.

Also, this summer season is a good time to look at the results of the Local Mission and Ministry Review, as we look to the future. We can consider and assess all that we do, and build on all the good things that have been happening in our church. At the same time, there may be some things that we need to do differently. As we progress through the season of Pentecost in the church calendar, we need to remember how important it is to be open to the guidance of God's Spirit in all that we do. We are part of the body of Christ, his church, in this locality and amongst this community. We need to continue to be faithful servants.

May the Lord bless us as we carry on serving Him.

Roger

The October News at The Junction would like to show a few pictures of your summer holidays. Please e-mail your pictures to centralurchove@hotmail.co.uk or give them to any member of the J-team: Roger Wood, John Brewster, Chris Hill, Suzanne Hill or Alex Hill.

Thank you. Enjoy your holidays!

FAMILY NEWS FROM CENTRAL

It was with a real sense of the loss of a beloved friend, who was a “character,” that we learned of the death of Dale Marland on the morning of 29th July. Due to increasing infirmity, it had been some time since Dale last managed to come to church services; nevertheless such was the enormity of his personality that we felt that he was very much still a presence amongst us. He was always immensely interested in the life of Central and over the years he participated fully in it, as a member of the Finance Committee, a Pastoral Group leader, an Elder for a short time and a regular attendee of Church Meetings. Dale loved debate or discussion and enjoyed them both in Bible study and in generally expressing his sometimes rather anarchic views just to get a subject discussed fully.

It was the Rev Marie Roe, who recommended to Dale, when he finally settled in Hove, that he should join Central and we never regretted his decision. One of his pleasures in life was to stroll along the front and encounter someone from Central – a good chat, which could last over an hour, and he was on his way. Content.

Dale was well travelled, well read and had had a very varied career in a variety of jobs, including the merchant navy, the police and being a taxi cab driver. He enjoyed his experiences in all of them and further enjoyed regaling us with his anecdotes about his adventures. His stories of his life’s adventures had a showcase each month at The Junction, where he had a regular slot, “Dale’s Tales.” (The theme tune, as he was helped to the stage was “Steptoe & Son”) His “gig” is now replaced by “Gear’s Years,” of course.

Life, until recent years, was always “fantastic.” Even when his health began to deteriorate, on good days he would proclaim that he was “getting there!” His great fear was that he would become a miserable old “-----.” He never did.

Over the past few years, he took great pride in his growing number of grandchildren and great grandchildren, especially if his head count beat that of someone else. He was always delighted to tell of the latest arrival. To his family and friends we extend our sincere sympathy and prayers.

During the past month Chris Hill and Alasdair Macaulay have been in hospital for operations. Happily, both have made good recoveries and been able to attend church and other activities. Both have praised their surgeons and treatment and have been very happy patients. So, the lesson to draw from this is that it is only manflu', which is debilitating to the male of the species – anything else is minor. We are pleased everything has been so successful and pray that they may continue to make full and easy recoveries.

Janet Folkes has not been very well and is undergoing a series of tests to obtain a full diagnosis. Please hold Janet in your prayers.

Meanwhile, Barbara Woolvett, having had another fall, is now in Highgrove Nursing Home where she is having physiotherapy and some further rehabilitation lessons. She is quite happy there and should be home in a few weeks.

It is that time of year once more, when congratulations are due to those who have achieved academic success, so it is with great pleasure that we congratulate David Ireland on obtaining his degree at York University and also Reuben Sibanda, who has just learned that he has got honours in Sociology and Economics.

Most of our organisations are having a well-earned break over the next few weeks but may we recommend to you the Art Exhibition of the Dupont Art club, who use our hall through the year. The exhibition will take place from 21st – 23rd August and is always worth a visit. In this year, when we remember the losses, and sacrifices of World War 1, do take a look at the clubs depiction of a famous scene from that time. It is displayed at the left hand side of the Ventnor Hall.

In September, we will have the joy of welcoming Violet Foard into membership on Sunday 7th at the morning service. Violet has attended worship at Central for many years and is always one of the first through our doors on a Sunday morning. We are so pleased that she has finally decided to make this affirmation of faith. We pray that she will continue to find friendship and an enrichment of her faith as she worships with us.

The recent hot weather has been difficult for many who are not enjoying good health. Please continue to hold in prayer:

Ros Ayling, Joyce King, Barbara Hicks, John Gilson, Tebello Sibanda, Doreen Simmons, Peggy McMillan, Clive & Shirley Hamblin.

We wish you all a happy summer.

CHURCH NEWS

At the Church Meeting on Sunday, 20th July, the congregation was informed that to fill recent vacancies on the Eldership a number of non-serving elders had agreed to be co-opted on to serve on the Eldership until the next AGM in March 2015.

The meeting agreed unanimously to confirm this arrangement.

These Elders are: Jim Lyall, Peter Gear, Alasdair Macaulay, Bill Maclean, Graham Smith, Chris Hill, Peter Elliott, Adrian Ball and Rosemary Brice, who will serve alongside Keren Hancox and Alan Ireland, who are already in office.

You will have noticed that a copy of the LMMR Report has been included with the magazine. Please read it carefully and, if you wish to make any comment or suggestions, give them in writing to any of the above Elders by Sunday 17th August.

During the current interregnum, we need to work together and lend a helping hand wherever we can. Please prayerfully consider if you can help in any of the following ways:

- We need some new Pastoral Group leaders. Can you help OR can you think of someone who might make a good visitor? If so, please speak to Roger or any Elder.
- Welcome Break needs some new hands to help out on Wednesdays. The work is not onerous and it only takes about 2 hours to serve the tea, soup and sandwiches. It need not be every Wednesday and it is great outreach into the community. To find out more, speak to Pam Macaulay.
- If you can make a cup of tea/coffee, pour a glass of fruit juice/water, offer cake or biscuits (all provided) and smile, perhaps you might consider helping out at Bluebird on Tuesday Morning. Sheila Lyall will be going into hospital for a hip operation and will be unable to help for several weeks. Once again, it need not be every Tuesday, if inconvenient, but if there are enough volunteers a rota could be worked out. Speak to Keren Hancox.
- Remember the adage, “ Many hands make light work.” A little help goes a long way in easing the work of others who already have a considerable workload. So, even picking up a piece of paper, noticing there are no spare toilet rolls in the cloakrooms and telling someone, so they can be replaced, refreshing the flowers or binning them if they are dead helps a lot.

- And so does an occasional word of encouragement, a smile or a warm hand shake.

AUGUST OUTING – NEWHAVEN FORT

Saturday 30th August 2014

Our summer outing this year is a visit to Newhaven Fort where (according to their literature) “history comes alive”!

All Church members- and friends and family – are invited. If you would like more details take a look at their website www.newhavenfort.org.uk. The plan is to meet at the Fort at 11.00 am and when suitably exhausted retire to a local hostelry for a bite of lunch. The latter part is not obligatory. Entrance charges to the Fort are £4.00 for children, £5.00 for Senior Citizens and £6.00 for adults

A “sign up” notice will be put up in the New Hall in order to get an idea of numbers and consider potential transport requirements. Please speak to Bill Maclean if you require additional information.

PRAYER CALENDAR AUGUST

Week 1 3rd – 9th

As we remember “The shot that still reverberates around the World” let us pray for the international situation in the news today. Now, a century later, the negative consequences of that awful event are still being felt, not just in the Balkans, but around the world. Pray for our service men and women abroad and their families at home.

Week 2 10th – 16th

Pray for the Children of Abraham, that people of tolerance and integrity among the Arabs, Jews and Christians may reach out to each other, and not be silenced by the extremists and men of violence. Pray for the Holy Land and all caught up in the increasing tension. Give thanks for The Brighton and Hove Inter-faith Group, and pray that the terrible situation between Israel and Gaza, and in Syria and Iraq may not be allowed to encourage prejudice and intolerance in our nation.

Week 3 17th – 23rd

As Rev Alex Mabbs and folk from Brighthelm URC and other faith groups and churches place their feet in the sea and pray for the environment and the effects of global warming, pray for the politicians and leaders of the world as they negotiate to reduce carbon emissions. (Next ‘Pray by the sea’ Sat 16th Aug 10.30 am opposite the end of West Street – you don’t have to get your feet wet! You can just stand near the water’s edge and pray) As the PM of Kiribati said, “It is already too late for us. Whatever is agreed by the industrial states and big polluters, Kiribati, Tuvalu, the Marshal Islands and the Maldives in 100 years will not exist.

Week 4 24th – 30th

Pray for our Young People as they receive their examination results and decide about university, careers, etc – their future. Pray for those who are questioning their faith – looking for faith – and for those who have already made a commitment to Jesus Christ but are finding that commitment challenged by peer group pressure.

Donations for the decoration of the church for Harvest will be gratefully received by either Ann Throup or Rosemary Brice.

Contributions of flowers, foliage or vegetables should be brought to the church Friday 12 noon - 1.30 p.m. OR Saturday 20th at 10.00 a.m.

YOUR HELP in decorating the sanctuary from 10.00 a.m. onwards would be gratefully appreciated, even if you can only come for part of the time.

You don't have to be a flower arranger to be useful.

PRAYER CALENDAR SEPTEMBER

Week 1 31st Aug – 6th September

Living God, you come to us, and your presence is made known in white-sliced, wholemeal, multi-grain, crusty baguette, gluten-free, naan, sourdough, chapeti, bagel, pitta...You are present at our kitchen tables and our holy tables, and you satisfy our deepest hunger. Give us today the food that we need, and teach us how to share with those who hunger for the bread of life.

Week 2 September 7th – 13th

Remember our organisations as they begin again after the summer recess. Give thanks for all the many folk who have been touched by the Love of Christ over the years as they came to Sunday services or a weekly meeting. Ask for God's blessing and empowerment on all our leaders and helpers, and give thanks for their commitment week after week. May our church be a sanctuary of love and healing, and may all feel welcome and affirmed.

Week 3 September 14th – 20th

God of the Church, we remember that the reason we are here is that others before us were passionate about abiding in you. We are here because they were faithful. God of the Church, Jesus invites us to be branches of the one true vine. If we are willing, your life can pass through us, and we can pass on a fruitful church to the generation coming after us.
Roberta Rominger

Week 4 September 21st – 27th

Let us pray for healing. Let us name before the Lord those people and those situations which are on our hearts - from our own families, from this church, from the wider community. Lord Jesus, the same yesterday, today and for ever, let your healing power be upon those who seek your help at this time. May new life quicken them in body, mind and spirit. In the name of Jesus may they be made whole in Him. In the name of the Holy Spirit, may they be given that peace which passes all understanding. Amen.

Week 5 Sept 28th – Oct 4th

Pray for all involved in the Paraclete Ministries and the Council for World Mission (CWM). Let us serve as we are served.

LITTLE THINGS MEAN A LOT!

Well, they do if you hope to win or do reasonably well on the Men's Fellowship Car Treasure Hunt. I don't call it a rally because that suggests speeding, which, of course, is not even considered.

One of the delightful aspects of this annual event, so ably organised by Graham Smith, is that, although you may think you know the area quite well, Graham always finds that something a little different that you have overlooked. Like the car park near Washington, where we were to meet – didn't even know it was there!

So, on a perfect summer evening – not too hot, not too cold – we set off armed with Graham's diagrammatic route map and a list of questions about various places en route, to which we had to find the answers.

First stop was the village of Ashington, easily bypassed by the A24, which few of us had ever bothered to visit – until that evening. It was lovely and we were most impressed by its attractiveness and its mobile fish and chip and pizza stalls. Three clues had to be answered here. Then we had to wind our way by a quieter back route back on to slightly more familiar territory – we thought. However the minutiae of detail is what too often caught us out.

What a difference there is between an L and an S! WiSton House is part of the WiLton Estate. Graham wanted the latter. "A house outside Steyning bears the name of a well known hymn tune, what is it and name the hymn." House name is Crimmond so the answer is NOT Psalm 23 but the HYMN is "The Lord's my Shepherd." That is why every clue has to be read very carefully and with close attention to the wording.

Now, you would think that by the time we got to Shoreham, we would be able to coast home. Not so. One turn too late would find the car several clues ahead of where we should be so, back again for one more try. Success!

Hunger pangs are beginning to be felt and, as we enter Hove, we thought we are nearly finished. We think of the delights of the supper awaiting us at Adam and Carol Gill's home. But not yet. Graham has a final little twist to the tail of the quiz. Find the name of a famous Oscar nominated film on Kingsway. For your information, there are two possibilities.

Finally, back at the Gills' where a delicious, bountiful spread is laid out and we repair to their garden, where conversation and laughter flow.

Then the moment of truth.

Graham starts to give the answers he wants. Cries of protest, roars of laughter, arguments over half a point - every one counts. The marks are totalled, the expended mileage noted and a winner is declared. Chris Hill's team, Sheila Lyall, Alasdair Macaulay, Denzil Brice and Chris, were the winners.

Our sincere thanks to Graham Smith for his time and ingenuity in preparing and organising a very successful event and to Adam and Carol Gill for their hospitality.

It is a highly enjoyable and informative evening - by the end of it you can always tell your right from your left!

CHRISTIAN BOOK CLUB

Cast your mind back to 22nd June and the theme of the morning service, led by our young people. “ I am the light of the world. Whoever follows me will never walk in darkness, but will have the light of life.”

This was mindfully apt for our club’s book of choice for July –“Light shining in the Forest” by Paul Torday. We had chosen this book mainly because we had so enjoyed reading another of his books, “ Salmon Fishing in the Yemen,” and, to be honest, we were looking for a bit of light relief after our struggles with June’s reading, “ The Testament of Mary.”

Well, we got that wrong. Light, it was not.

“ Light shining in the Forest” was fascinating, riveting, disturbing, dark and challenging. One member started to read at 2.00 p.m. on a Sunday afternoon and closed the book just after 5.00 p.m.. She could not put it down! On the other hand, another , with an overactive imagination, had to keep putting it down, because her mind was racing ahead, and always expecting something dreadful to happen: so much so, she committed the cardinal error of going the end to check that things worked out in a reasonable manner.

It is fair to say that everyone agreed that we were intrigued, challenged and bothered by the book and we would recommend it to anyone.

Paul Torday is a brilliant writer. His powers of description are taut and vivid. There is no waffle. Every sentence, every phrase and every word is carefully, meaningfully chosen. Consequently we are drawn in to the claustrophobic darkness of the depths of Kielder Forest, The bird life consists of carnivores: buzzards, magpies, ravens, crows, hawks, not song birds. This darkness, the stillness the silence increases with every step taken into its depths and the sense of brooding evil grows in intensity.

Torday’s depiction of his characters is equally vivid. The main three adults are Norman Stokoe, a rising star in the Civil Service, Pippa, his secretary/ personal assistant and Willie Craig, an aspiring journalist in a dead-end job in the local paper. All three are essentially in non-jobs. Norman is (un)officially a Children’s Czar but the job had ceased to exist by the time he got there; however, no one told Norman. If Norman has not got a job then neither has Pippa – apart from bringing Norman his coffee. And so it goes on. Asked what he does Norman will reply, “ Co-ordination, liaison, strategic direction.” He is in charge of children but comes to realise that he has never spoke to one or had anything to do a child. But he does know how to shake hands, sit on committees, say nothing and be seen as “a safe pair of hands”.

That is, until children in the area start disappearing and Willis Craig, in search of his escape route to London, begins to ask questions.

Britain’s record with the care of children is not great. Chapter 2 is so disturbing as some facts we are shielded from by authority are given. A child “goes missing” in Britain every 5 minutes. Three, and possibly more, have disappeared within an area of twenty miles. No one in authority has made a connection and no one wishes to dig too deeply. Missing/run away? Not important. And, if there might be trouble for a Minister of State, stop asking questions.

The children are Theo Constantine, Becky Thomas and Karen Gilby and their disappearances have been have been quietly ignored, except by their parent(s) until this story begins to unfold.

The new search by our three adults is a search not only for the children but for themselves. This book has so many levels; the personal, the political, the social, the symbolic and the spiritual/theological that it would be difficult to know where to start.

It contains so many contemporary issues that, at times, the reader wonders how the author was so prescient. It is like reading a current newspaper - political cover-ups, quangos, police and social service ineptitude/apathy, missing children, loss and re-finding of faith, etc.

READ it for yourself. We all recommend it. But not on a beach, or by a swimming pool. It is not a holiday read. It requires reflection and even introspection.

22nd September, “ Charing Cross Road” A lovely light read at Chip Dunn’s.

27th October, “ The Christian Atheist” at Clare Popley’s. Make time to read it.

Please feel free to join us. You will be very welcome.
